

Enter Your Wildlife Photos & Win Cash Prizes!

2024 IPANM Wildlife in the Oilfield Photo Contest Winners!

1st Place

"Birds In Flight"

By

Philip Walker

2nd Place

"Antelope In The Patch"

By

Tyler Deans

3rd Place

"Finch On A Wire"

By

Peter Zimmerman

The premise that humans and nature cannot co-exist, whereby humankind encroaches on wildlife is simply untrue. When the Alaskan pipeline was being built, environmentalists feared the fate of the caribou saying the animals would suffer immensely. The exact opposite happened. The number of caribou has quintupled since production began in early 1978. The equipment provided windbreak, warmth, and shelter.

In 2004, IPANM created a contest where oilfield workers and others could win cash prizes for the best photo or video demonstrating wildlife adapting to manmade changes in their environment.

You can help celebrate the wildlife in the oilfield by entering your own photos to win cash prizes! Winners photos will be published to our popular Wildlife webpage! Click below for more information.

TO SUBMIT A PHOTO

CLICK HERE

PHOTO SUBMISSIONS
DUE JULY 1, 2025

1st Place = $1000

2nd Place = $500

3rd Place = $250